Biography and Research Interests

Dr Jitendra Kumar Biswal has been working as a scientist at Indian Council of Agricultural Research (ICAR)-Directorate of foot-and-mouth disease (DFMD), India since April 2011. He was awarded with prestigious Commonwealth Scholarship, U.K. for his doctoral studies in Molecular Virology at the Pirbright Institute, Surrey, UK during the year 2007-2011. During the PhD studies Dr Biswal is recognized for the development of mucosal antibody-based assay for detection of persistently foot-and-mouth disease virus (FMDV) infected ruminant species. At ICAR-DFMD, India Dr Biswal has been working on the development of new-generation vaccines and diagnostic against FMDV. Some of the achievements of Dr Biswal are development of reverse genetics techniques for Indian FMD viruses, chimeric vaccine candidate, DIVA-compatible FMD vaccine candidates and thermostable FMD vaccine candidate. Furthermore, he has also developed several recombinant protein based assays for FMD serosurveillance and seromonitoring purpose. Dr Biswal has also been involved in the development of working-SOPs for the state-of-the-art BSL3+Ag facility at ICFMD in the additional capacity of Assistant Bio-safety Officer. Dr Biswal's long-term goal is to develop heat stable, live-attenuated vaccines against FMD virus through the combined use of viral reverse genetics and nano-technology.

Education

PhD (2011)

Laboratory: The Pirbright Institute, Surrey, United Kingdom
University: Royal Veterinary College, University of London

Master of Veterinary Science
(M.V.Sc)
(2006)

Institute: National Dairy Research Institute, Karnal, Haryana, India

B.V.Sc & A.H (2004) University: Odisha University of Agriculture and Technology, Odisha, India
